CHRISTIAN THIRST FOR BLOOD

MCKINLEY QUOTED AS OF OPINION THAT IT SHOULD BE SLAKED.

A New York Special to the Manchester Guardian says Mr. McKinley has made a formal protest.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Manchester, Eng., Feb. 27.—The Manchester Guardian publishes today a New York telegram which quotes President McKinley in a formal protest against the policy of the powers in China as declaring that the thirst of Christendom for blood must now be considered sufficiently slaked, after taking at least a hundred lives for every Christian slaughtered.

The Guardian, referring editorially to this, says that for a cautious politician like Mr. McKinley to speak so vigorously is a startling indication of the length to which the policy of vengeance has been carried, and says it is a forcible plea for England's natural cooperation with America in her Chinese policy.

AGGY'S UNCLE GOVERNOR.

Appointed Over the Bulacan Province by the Commission.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Manila, Feb. 27.—The Philippine Commission today extended the benefit of civil government to the quarter of a million of residents of the province of Bulacan. In this Province there has been a lively two day's convention of various factions over the question of the location of the capital. After a bitter contest, Malolos, which was the popular choice was decided upon by the presidents who cast their votes under the secret ballot system. The Commission then appointed officers for the various offices on the same plan as in the province Pampanga, except that the salaries paid are lower.

Aginaldo's uncle was named as the governor of the province.

ONE BLOW EACH.

Two of the Chinese Fall at the Demands of the Powers.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Pekin, Feb. 27.—A crowd of nearly ten thousand people saw the execution of Chi Sin and Hsu Cheng Yu (beheaded) here yesterday in accordance with the demands of the powers. Numbers of the various delegations were conspicuously absent, feeling that if they were present they might seem to be gloating over their fallen adversaries. Every power, however, was legally represented by military officers and soldiers, and also a staff officer from each foreign power. The condemned men met death stoically. In each case one blow severed the head from the body.

300 BOERS CAPTURED.

London, Feb. 27.—General French has captured three hundred Boers with three big guns. This is the result of his trap laid for the invaders of Cape Colony. It was expected that General Dewet would be found among the prisoners but he escaped again, but French and several other generals are in hot pursuit.

THE FAYETTEVILLE DISPENSARY

THE SENATE SPENDS THE DAY IN DISCUSSING IT.

The House Committee Last Night Reported Adversely the Bill to Abolish It—History of the Muddle in Which the Matter Has Been Placed.

Special Dispatch to The Telegram

Raleigh, Feb. 27.—The Soldiers' Home bill was made the special order in the Senate for tomorrow.

The trustees of the State University were elected as reported by the committee.

Senator Smith, of Johnson, attacked Senator McNamee one on the gentlemen named, as a Republican.

Most of the session was occupied by a discussion of the Fayetteville dispensary, a bill to abolish which had been introduced. No vote was reached.

A bill was introduced to so amend the constitution that localities can at any time vote special taxes for schools.

The House passed the pension bill unanimously.

Before the House Committee.

The Fayetteville dispensary won out last night before the joint committee on propositions and grievances, says the Raleigh Post.

It was a hot fight and the bill to abolish the dispensary was acted on unfavorably by the vote of 10 to 11. All the Republican members of the committee voted against the bill.

The hall of the House was crowded a large number of those present being citizens of Cumberland county who came to take a hand in the fight.

Four years ago the Cumberland county dispensary was established. Today there is a bill before the Legislature to abolish the dispensary law.

A primary was held on the 19th of February in which the anti dispensary people gained the victory by 954 votes. The dispensary people claim that the primary was not properly held, and declined to participate in it. The anti-dispensary people claim that the results of the primary should be conclusive, as there were more than 900 votes against it.

Two large delegations, the "pros" and "cons" appeared before the committee.

The following persons compose the delegation opposing the bill, or who favor the dispensary: Messrs. H. B. Downing, Walter Smith, J. A. King, T. J. Bruce, E. A. Poe, Charles Rankin, D. M. McLean, W. H. Downing, W. D. Garter, James Evans, Z. B. Newton, J. H. Cervice, D. A. McGill, Q. R. Nimmoek, W. W. Husk, J. M. Lamb, H. L. Hall, J. A. Oates, D. T. Oates, J. C. Adams, W. S. Cook and C. B. McMillan.

The delegation favoring the bill and opposed to the dispensary are Major E. J. Hale, Hubert Luterloh, R. L. Williams, N. A. Sinclair, Sheriff Geo. Burns, J. B. Smith, E. A. McMillan, Geo. M. Reese, Col. Broadfoot and E. R. McKeathen.

The opposition to repealing the law presented the following petition:

A petition signed by 1,649 white voters of Cumberland county. A petition signed by 1,146 white women of Cumberland county. A petition signed 56 of the principal business men of Fayetteville. A petition of all the white pastors of Fayetteville. A petition of 20 out of 26 of the public officials of the town and county. A petition signed by 56 of the educators and teachers of Cumberland county. A petition from the school committee of Cumberland county. A petition signed by 100 of the business men, teachers and preachers of Red Springs, Robeson county.

Mr. D. T. Oates stated that the dispensary was not an issue in the campaign. That the Democratic executive committee opposed the election by a white primary; that the election was never called by the election board, and that he understood the matter was to be settled by petitions; that petitions had been circulated by the anti-dispensary people; could not stand by a primary called by two persons. Many thought in voting in the primary that they were voting for prohibition; that the 941 votes represented the entire strength of the anti-dispensary folk; that the committee should consider the 3,600 white votes against the 941.

Senator McNeill said the matter should be left to the representatives themselves; that they were amply able to defend the primary without calling for outside help.

Mr. G. B. Newton, superintendent of public instruction, stated that the county was financially and morally better off; that he asked that the bill be defeated in behalf of the public schools and the 10,000 school children.

Mayor Cook said the dispensary decreased crime over 60 per cent, not only in the town but in the county; that he had the documents attested to from it; that he was a Democrat of Democrats, and whatever the result would be he would be a Democrat still.

Representative explained his position. Came to Raleigh several days before the primary. He had agreed to a white primary, supposing that it could be held legally, but afterwards learned that there was no authority to hold it; then he withdrew. Since that time he had been standing by the petitions.

Senator McNeill stated he thought the only question was the primary and not the dispensary; that the dispensary was placed on them by the Populists, and that he came to the Senate pledged to defeat the measure.

Senator Broughton opposed the bill at some length, saying that if this bill is passed it would spread a fire-brand in Cumberland county and disturb all parties. "I want to preserve the harmony of this great county," he said. He suggested postponement of action until March 7th. The committee decided this could not be done.

Mr. Graham of the committee, was the last to speak. He was opposed to the bill, and thought the controversy had gotten the county into a tangle; that both sides contained honorable gentlemen.

Senator Ward called the previous question, the vote being 11 against and 10 for the bill.

CUBANS WOULD FIGHT.

Gomez Says Civil War would Reign if the United States Withdraw.

Havana, Feb. 26.—General Gomez visited Governor General Wood this morning and assured him that the stories of unrest and dissatisfaction at the continuance of the United States' intervention were false, and that he had been misrepresented in statements to the effect that he favored an immediate withdrawal of the United States troops and giving Cuba absolute independence. If they withdrew now he feared bloodshed, beyond doubt. Within 60 days the Cubans would be fighting among themselves, General Gomez added: "If the Americans were to withdraw today I would go with them."

General Gomez said he recognized the fact that the United States was responsible for the establishment of a stable government in Cuba and could not withdraw until such a condition was brought about. The work of handing over the reins of government to the new republic was an undertaking involving much time and labor and a large amount of study and experience on the part of the Cubans in the work of self government. The general also said the element in control of the municipalities was not working in the interest of the island. The officers were inexperienced and could not be given a free hand. It would mean the destruction and ruin of the island. General Wood said the greatest difficulty experienced was in getting the conservative element interested in municipal government. His purpose was to bring the best element to the front. The coming municipal elections would pave the way for the elections to be held under the electoral law being drawn up by the convention. General Gomez had no objection to the outline of future relations between the United States and Cuba as recommended by the United States Senate. He thought however, that it would be better for the United States to lease land for the naval stations instead of purchasing outright.

Mr. W. W. Wood returned this afternoon from a trip to Mt. Airy. He says the weather there is fine, but that the people all had the grip, even worse than in this city.

FUNERAL OF MRS. E. H. SCALES

HELD IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH THIS MORNING.

Dr. Smith's Touching Remarks Leave Scarce a Dry Eye in the House—The Magnificent Floral Tributes to Pall Bearers.

The funeral of the late Mrs. J. I. Scales, an account of whose death appeared in The Telegram yesterday afternoon, was conducted from the First Presbyterian church, this city, by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Smith, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Laird, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Danville, Va., this forenoon, still o'clock.

Rarely has a sadder funeral been witnessed in Greensboro than this one. For fully an hour before the time set for the services to begin, the people who had known and loved the deceased in life, among them many from without the city, began to assemble in the church. The pulpit was almost covered in flowers, the chancel railing being entirely hidden from view beneath a bank of roses, palms and other magnificent floral designs, all laid there by loving hands.

Promptly at the appointed hour, the funeral party, led by Dr. Smith, arrived with the corpse, followed by the members of the family and many friends.

The choir sang, with pathos tempered with sorrow, "Asleep in Jesus," after which Rev. Dr. Laird offered prayer in which he feelingly pleaded for divine comfort for the children of the deceased in their crushing grief.

Rev. Dr. Smith then read a Scriptural selection, and delivered an oration of rare power and great beauty.

In his remarks he told of the life of devotion which the deceased had led, and of his own help received from her through many trying periods of his life. His opening remarks were:

"My friends, it seems to me, that this occasion teaches us one thing, at least, more powerfully than we have ever had it presented to us before; and that is, that we are rapidly going forward to the reward that awaits us on the other shore. Only last week, we assembled here to pay our last respects to an honored Elder of this church; and this morning we meet to pay our last tribute to the memory of a sainted mother in Israel. Her life was a sermon and her death a coronation. We loved her here and her memory is and will continue to be a benediction, for she is at peace where everlasting service is everlasting peace."

When Dr. Smith closed his remarks there were few dry eyes in the church. Prayer was offered by Dr. Smith and the congregation sang "Lead, Kindly Light."

The pall bearers were: Messrs. J. A. Odell, R. G. Glenn, W. E. Bevil, E. M. Hendrix, J. S. Michaux, and R. G. Vaughn.

The elders of the church were honorary pall bearers. Visitors from a distance were: Major A. H. Galloway and daughter, of Reidsville; Miss Ella Parrish, of Reidsville; Mr. R. S. Galloway, of Winston; Rev. Dr. Laird, of Danville; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wyllie, of Danville.

FIRE THIS MORNING.

Motley & Vuncannon's Furniture Stock Destroyed.

About one o'clock this morning the brick building on South Elm street beyond the railway, owned by Prof. J. W. Parker, and occupied by Motley & Vuncannon, furniture dealers, was discovered to be on fire. The firemen responded immediately to the alarm but were unable to save the contents of the store, though the building was not seriously damaged. The stock is an almost total loss, and is valued by its owners at somewhere between sixteen and seventeen hundred dollars, with insurance to the amount of one thousand dollars, carried in foreign companies, represented here by Messrs. O. W. Carr & Son. The damage to the building is slight and is fully covered by insurance in the Underwriters of Greensboro. How the fire originated has not yet been ascertained. It started on the inside of the building.

Mr. O. M. Gates left last night for Charlotte to look after his firm's business there for a week.

SOME TYPHOID TESTS

Scientific Investigation of Possibility of Transmission.

Experiments with Domestic Animals Result in the Disproof of Certain Recently Formulated Theories on This Point.

Prof. William Royal Stokes, city bacteriologist and professor of pathology, University of Maryland, lately completed many experiments at the suggestion of Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary of the state board of health, which prove that neither the dog nor cat, horses nor cows, pigs nor mice, nor any domestic animals can transmit typhoid fever to man, says the Baltimore Sun.

The occurrence of many typhoid cases in an isolated farming community is not entirely explainable by the wells which supply it. For the typhoid bacilli could not very easily penetrate many depths of soil to enter the well, because the soil acts as a filter and no bacteria are found below six or eight feet. The possibility of infection in the wells from the bodies of animals seemed to many medical and lay minds a ready explanation of the direct contamination of the water.

Dr. Fulton and Dr. Stokes, however, were not satisfied with this explanation, and their important experiments, undertaken with the result of setting aside theories which had held the minds of medical men for years.

It was found that when typhoid bacilli were fed to dogs, cats, pigs, calves and others in quantities so large that they ought to kill an elephant or a regiment of men, the animals were not in the least disturbed, nor did they suffer illness of any kind.

Anthrax, rabies, glanders, smallpox, plague, malaria, consumption and many diseases have been proved to be easily transmitted from animals to man, but typhoid Dr. Stokes proved not thus transmissible.

The manner in which these era-breaking experiments were carried on is as follows: The typhoid bacilli of the most virulent form were obtained by Dr. Stokes from patients suffering with the most malignant form of typhoid fever, and the bacilli were placed on gelatine and put in an incubator and allowed to grow in such a manner that they would not infect anything or anybody. Eight of such "colonies," as they are called, were grown.

Two chickens, two white rats and a six-week-old calf were then taken. A flask with two quarts of bouillon was inoculated with typhoid bacilli, and after the typhoid germs had grown in it for two days one-half of the bouillon was fed to the calf in its milk and the other half was mixed with grain and given to the chickens and rats. The animals were fed in different cages. They were fed on this much-infected material every day for two weeks. Cultures were also taken from the animals every day, but no colonies of typhoid bacilli were ever reobtained from them. They seemed to digest them as easily as a child digests candy.

The next set of experiments were performed in a similar manner with larger quantities of typhoid bacilli for a month upon a male pig. At the end of the month not one typhoid bacillus was found, and all the animals were well and hearty.

Two rabbits, two guinea pigs and a young female pig were subjected to even more severe tests with this bacillus, so malignant to human beings, but harmless to animals; these, too, remained perfectly healthy and digested all of the typhoid bacteria.

Dr. Stokes concludes from these experiments that these typhoid bacilli cannot maintain its struggle for existence in the intestines of any of the domestic animals experimented upon.

SERVANTS OF THE VERY RICH

"The menus for the servants' meals are written also by the chef," writes M. E. Carter of "Housekeeping in a Millionaire's Family," in Ladies' Home Journal. Their dining hall requires a special servant to set tables and wait, to keep the place orderly and neat. She leads a band occasionally elsewhere. The servants' table has clear glass, bright, plated silver and good table linen, with a reasonable change of napkins. As the personal maids and the valets are frequently obliged to be in attendance upon their employers at their own meal times they will be often late. Movable feasts with little regularity fall to their lot. The dining hall girl finds that patience must have its perfect work in her also. The late comers can never know before hand regarding their own movements. The butler presides and carves, and it behooves all to be on good terms with his highness. Caste obtains below as well as above stairs. The example of those who are in authority, because of their large bank accounts, is studiously followed by the lowly, impetuous ones. Rules of precedence are as rigorously maintained as in any royal household with full as many heartburnings. The serving class to-day have—with each new palace built—more consideration shown for their comfort. Men and women have now for each sex their own bathrooms, with an abundance of good towels. Their beds have elastic springs and mattresses. The bed chambers, though simple, are supplied with everything that is necessary for the toilet. They are brightly lighted, beautifully clean and orderly."

New York's Milk Bill. Every day New York city uses 2,014,768 quarts of milk, 1,506,819 pounds of meat, 261,845 pounds of butter and 10,278 barrels of flour.—N. Y. Sun.

CLOTHES IN INDIA.

A Mistaken Notion About Their Weight in That Country Is Generally Entertained.

It is the prevailing idea that India has a toasting hot climate and that the residents go around in thin white linen, flimsy gauzes and laces, and live with a palm-leaf fan in their hands. Therefore, many mistakes are made by travelers who go out to the coral strands of song, mistakes the more bitterly regretted as all one's clothes must be brought from home.

Bombay, for instance, is moist and hot like a Turkish bath. Poona, to which all the people of Bombay who have money emigrate for three months and where all the social functions occur, is cool, and Mahabeshwa, another hill station, is likewise. In Bombay all is soft, light and starchless; in Poona the summer garments of England and America suffice, and in Mahabeshwa serges and tweeds are necessary.

At Calcutta and Simla the smartest and most up-to-date clothes are called for. In Calcutta the women wear the dainty fripperies of a London June, and when they go up to Simla they add warm furs and cloaks. Simla is the Paris of the Himalayas. During six months in Simla you experience three climates—two months warm, bright and joyful; three of fogs and heavy rains, when nothing but stout boots and heavy tweeds can be worn, and two months of rarefied, champagne atmosphere that demands the furs.

In some territories it so cold that the people who cannot afford furs wear leather coats, and the British troops have special vests made, padded and lined.

As to lingerie, the finest cambric is advisable, but lavish laces are not advisable, in spite of the clever washerwoman, who lives on the premises.

OUR FOREFATHERS HONEST.

In Most Cases They Bought Their Lands from the Indians.

Sometimes historians tell us that it was only Dutchmen and not Englishmen who bought the red men's land instead of stealing it, says the Atlantic Monthly. Such statements have been made in New York, but if we pass on to Philadelphia we hear that it was only Quakers who were thus scrupulous, and when we arrive in Baltimore we learn that it was only Roman Catholics. In point of fact, it was the invariable custom of European settlers on this Atlantic coast to purchase the land on which they settled, and the transaction was usually recorded in a deed to which the sagamores affixed their marks. Nor was the affair really such a mockery as it may at first thought seem to us. The red man got what he sorely coveted, steel hatchets and grindstones, glass beads and rum, perhaps muskets and ammunition, while he was apt to reserve sundry rights of catching game and fish.

A struggle was inevitable when the white man's agriculture encroached upon and exhausted the Indian's hunting ground; but other circumstances usually brought it on long before that point was reached. The age of iron superseded the stone age in America by the same law of progress that from time immemorial has been bearing humanity onward from brutal savagery to higher and more perfect life. In the course of it our forefathers certainly ousted and dispossessed the red men, but they did not do it in a spirit of robbery.

HOUSEKEEPING FOR RICH.

All the Household Machinery Must Run Smoothly and Be Invisible.

In the mansion of a modern millionaire the most interesting feature is the invisibility of the housekeeping machinery, says Ladies' Home Journal. Everything runs with precision, and one never sees "the wheels go round." By nine o'clock in the morning every department is immaculately clean and in perfect order, except the bed-chambers, where those who dwell in the lap of luxury may still be slumbering; or perchance they may be breakfasting in lonely grandeur. Millionaire-dom lies abed late—the feminine part especially, to whom "beauty sleep" is an imperative necessity. In a great house, whatever the size of the family proper, two or ten, it matters not, a certain number of servants is always requisite to insure the proper conduct of the affairs of the household. If the people live elegantly, and entertain frequently, the department of service must be composed of skilled hands, who are inmates of the house. The chef and butler only may sleep out.

Would Change the Name. Sing Sing's name is derived from "Sint Sies," the title of a former branch of the Mohegan Indians. The inhabitants of the town want to call it Ossining, which is the name of the township. There is so much in a name that the citizens are tired of being identified in the public mind with a big prison. They attribute the loss in population shown by the census to this fact. Manufacturers have avoided the place because the public would think they dealt in prison-made goods. It is suggested that every penitentiary should have a distinct name of its own.

According to a report just issued by the state mine inspector of Montana that state produces 23 1-3 per cent. of the world's copper output and 61 per cent. of the output of this country.

The modern demand for high-power machinery is shown by the fact that in Paris the average horse power per machine exhibited in 1867 was 16; in 1878, 62; in 1889, 170; and in 1900, 973.

WINE OF CARDUI

A LITTLE DOES MUCH.

Boone, Iowa, Dec. 14.
 No tongue can tell what I have endured in the past ten years with my monthly sickness. While suffering untold agony, a friend called and recommended Wine of Cardui. I sent for a bottle, and Oh! what relief. After the first dose I began to feel better and have had no pain since.
 MRS. GRACE LAMPHIRE.

McKee's Wine of Cardui

Wine of Cardui not only cures but it acts AT ONCE. Here is a case of ten years' standing, and yet one single dose made the sufferer feel better, and stopped the pain. The Wine goes straight to the seat of the trouble. It acts directly upon the menstrual and genital organs. Its action is not violent, and it does not force a result. It simply gives Nature that little assistance that the sufferer's system lacks. A single disorder in the feminine organs spreads many disorders all over the body, and when the Wine cures the source, all the other ills vanish as a matter of course. A woman can be her own physician and cure herself at home. Local examinations are largely things of the past—the obnoxious custom is no longer necessary. Wine of Cardui is the only perfectly safe and sure vegetable Wine made to-day for the cure of "female troubles".

ARE YOU PLUMP

or thin? red cheeks or sallow life in your step or feel your weight? are you comfortable or hoping to be so next spring or summer or fall?

One is health; the other is not-quite health.

This condition of not-quite health can be turned into health with Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

It is a pity to get in the habit of thinking of health as a thing to be hoped for; why not go for it now!

There is only one way to make strength: by food. You want appetite first, then food. The emulsion will give you food-rest, to master your food with.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.
 SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl street, New York.

A new remedy for biliousness is now on sale at C. E. Holton's drug store. It is called Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. It gives quick relief and will prevent the attack if given as soon as the first indication of the disease appears. Price, 25 cents per box. Samples free.

When the Hair Falls Out

accompanied by mucous patches in the mouth, eruptions on the skin, sore throat, copper colored spots, swollen glands, aching muscles and bones, the disease is making rapid headway, and far worse symptoms will follow unless the blood is promptly and effectually cleansed of this violent destructive poison.

S. S. S. is the only safe and infallible cure for this disease, the only antidote for this specific poison. It cures the worst cases thoroughly and permanently.

My Condition Could Have Been No Worse.

In the fall of 1897 I contracted Blood Poison. I tried three doctors, but their treatment did me no good; I was getting worse all the time; my hair came out, ulcers appeared in my throat and mouth, my body was almost covered with copper colored spots and offensive sores. I suffered severely from rheumatic pains in my shoulders and arms. My condition could have been no worse; only those afflicted as I was can understand my sufferings. I had about lost all hope of ever being well again when I decided to try S. S. S., but must confess I had little faith left in any medicine. After taking the third bottle I noticed a change in my condition. This was truly encouraging, and I determined to give S. S. S. a thorough trial. From that time on the improvement was rapid; S. S. S. seemed to have the disease completely under control; the sores and ulcers healed and I was soon free from all signs of the disorder; I have been strong and healthy ever since.

L. W. SMITH, Lock Box 611, Noblesville, Ind.
SSS is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. $1.00 is offered for proof that it contains a particle of mercury, potash or other mineral poison. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 27.

A NOTABLE GATHERING.

Winston-Salem is to be congratulated upon having secured for itself the meeting of the educational conference of Northern people interested in education in the South, to be held April 18, 19 and 20th. The conference was induced to meet at that point by Messrs. Fries and Blair, two of the active business men of the city. This conference is composed of wealthy Northern men, principally of New York, who are interested in educational work throughout the country. The Journal says that an excursion train of Pullmans will be run direct from New York.

There will be a number of noted men at this meeting and they will take places on the program. Some of these are Robert C. Ogden of New York, who has given much to educational work; Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of The Outlook; Seth Low, of Columbia University; President Harper, of the Chicago University; Walter H. Page, editor of The World's Work; President Gillam, of Johns Hopkins; President Elliot, of Harvard; President Hadley, of Yale; George Foster Peabody; W. H. Baldwin, president of the Long Island Railway; Morris K. Jessup, president of the New York chamber of commerce; John H. Conner, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works; Miss Thomas, of Bryn Mawr College. The Journal states that both ex-President Cleveland and Vice-President Roosevelt have promised to come if they can. It was stated in the beginning of this article that the conference is interested in education in the South. While this is peculiarly true, its interest extends over the country, and it embraces in its objects all those things which may help to develop the manhood and womanhood of the country. Beside the men mentioned, a number of Southern men will take part, among whom are Dr. Charles D. McIver, Bishop Rondthaler, Dr. Curry, Hoke Smith, Dr. Winston, ex Governor Northern of Georgia, Dr. Alderman, and Dr. Dabney of Tennessee. It will be a very notable gathering.

In the House yesterday a stormy time was raised between the Republican and Democratic sides, when it was brought out that the Speaker had refused to allow a speech of Mr. Lentz, of Ohio, to be printed in the Congressional Record. It was the speech delivered a few days ago which brought down on Mr. Lentz such a storm when he declared that United States soldiers in the Philippines were justified in deserting. No doubt Mr. Lentz had put a good deal more in his speech, as it is customary for members to insert in the Record any additions to their speeches after they have been delivered. Mr. Lentz' insertions were said to be a bitter attack upon Senator Hanna. It is a pity that they didn't get in. It's a discrimination against the readers of the Record. They have waded through tons of cheerless stuff for years, and just as their patience was about to be rewarded with something lively and appetizing, behold it was snatched from their mouths. Too bad, too bad.

The Durham Herald remarks that those Democratic papers that declare that they will remember those legislators who voted against the proposed libel law are making preparations to get read out of the party. There was a time when the threat of being read out of the party frightened some papers nearly to death. It is not so in as many cases now as it was.

A scene more horrible than that of the mine disaster in Wyoming can scarcely be imagined. The sinking of a gallant ship in sight of its home port and the drowning of a hundred of its passengers is something, but not to be compared to a mine disaster, where men are enveloped in underground furnaces and roasted with never a breath of the bountiful fresh air above or a last look at the earth. The frequency of these occurrences, too, is such as to make one think almost each time he puts a piece of coal upon his comfortable fire, of the men who day by day, in momentary risk of such fearful occurrences, dig in the mines, in many sections at a miserable pittance as a daily reward.

It is easy to see how men, infuriated by the commission of a heinous crime, may take upon themselves the task of hanging or burning the perpetrator, as the crowd did in Indiana yesterday. But how any civilized man supposed to be free from brute instinct, can desire as "relics" of the deed pieces of the bones, flesh or skin of the wretches, is past comprehension.

Old General Gomez is now saying that if the Americans withdraw from Cuba there will be civil war. Yet this old sky-rocket has all along done all he could to incite the Cuban people to insist upon such a withdrawal. Now that he sees that a storm may at any time be brewing about his head, he is anxious for his protectors to still be on hand.

A HENDERSONVILLE SHINER

He is a White Man With a Number Eight Head but Only Four Feet High.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

Since leaving the City of Flowers, I have witnessed some very beautiful winter scenery in the land of the sky, but the best freak of nature I have seen in some time is to be found in a barber shop in this town. A stranger walking into the shop would naturally wonder what intelligent looking man that is who is sitting over near the bootblack's stand. Well, this is Geo. Carson, who stands four feet, six inches in his shoes; wears a No. 8 hat No. 6 shoes, pants 37 waist, 18 in length, coat 38, weight 145 pounds. When you get up for your shine you will find him very convenient for he has been at the business for two years, and never fails to have you brushed off nicely before he is through. He is thirty years old and has never been on the road, but says he would not object to starting out with some good company, provided his salary exceeded what he makes shining shoes. He looks as a man of large build had had his legs cut off about his knees, but he is very active.

RHEUMATISM | CATARRH — DIS-
EASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

CAPT. WARD DIED
SIGNALING HIS LOVE.

San Francisco, Feb. 24.—The Pacific Mail Steamship Company issued a statement today, placing the blame for the loss of the Rio Janeiro on Captain Ward, who lost his life.

Captain Ward met his death in the very section of the Golden Gate where for the past seven years he had signalled his fiancée as he steamed through the straits to the Orient.

The young woman, Miss Lena Jackson, and the Captain were devotedly attached to each other, and from the time they became engaged it was her custom to go to Fort Point with her sisters before the Rio de Janeiro cleared the mail dock, and as the vessel steamed through the channel she would wave a last good-bye.

As his farewell response would be three blasts of the ship's whistle.

Miss Jackson believes the story of the rescued man, who says he saw the commander tying down the whistle rope.

"If he realized the awful conditions, as he, of course, must," said she, "then he knew the end was near; he was fixing the whistle for his final good-bye signal to me."

Her Deepest Regret.

The girl was young, and not wishing to assume the cares and responsibilities of a wife, she kept putting off the wedding day after day.

"The greatest regret of my life," she said today, "is that I did not become his wife long ago. But there always seemed plenty of time, and the idea of his being taken away never entered my head. He was so strong physically and, of course, there was not any question about his ability as a navigator."

And then the inconsolable, heart-broken woman buried her face in her hands and moaned piteously, "My Will! my Will!"

A NATURAL-BORN COURTIER.

Now a Youthful Son of Ex-Comptroller Trenholm Astonished the Diplomats.

Few men stand higher in the financial world of New York than William L. Trenholm, who was comptroller of the currency under President Cleveland. He is from the south and has always been a man of distinguished social qualities. He belongs to one of the best families of Charleston, S. C., and his home is the meeting place for the brilliant southerners who come north, says the Chicago Chronicle.

It is said of him that no one man in New York receives more letters from the entire south asking for positions than Mr. Trenholm, and that no southerner ever appealed to him in vain; that a dinner or a luncheon at the Trenholm house is in itself an opening for their new life.

A few of the eminent men of New York were talking of this the other day and chaffing Mr. Trenholm—who was present—about it. A Washington statesman said Trenholm impressed people in the same way when he was comptroller of the democratic administration. To illustrate the family aplomb he told the following story:

One New Year's day in Washington the youngest son of the house, a precocious boy, distinguished himself by gathering the visiting cards from his mother's table, ordering a hansom and making a round of visits at the most notable houses, sending in the first card that he picked from the bunch. When the butler at the English embassy announced the Chinese minister, Master Trenholm walked in with perfect aplomb and made a courtly South Carolina bow to his dumfounded hostess.

As the youngster was so serious and his manner so perfect no one thought to laugh. He was handed tea, and, bowing low to the ambassador from Great Britain, he backed out of the door and drove to the house of the secretary of state. There he happened to send in a card of the secretary of war, and so on until he had made the rounds, calling on the different women he knew.

Glazed Carrots.

Boil 12 small carrots in salted water until tender; drain, cut in slices crosswise and saute slightly in butter. Add one tablespoonful each of butter and sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, and a hint of nutmeg to half cupful of boiling water, and stir until dissolved; lay carrots in shallow baking pan, pour liquor over and bake in hot oven until nicely browned. —Ladies' World, New York.

The Simple Things of Life.

The simplest things are the things that really appeal to us most, and that is only because when we are simple we are natural. An enjoyment that is natural is always the deepest and truest. The moment the artificial, the conventional, comes into our lives, that moment the sweetest realizations go out. —Edward Bok, in Ladies' Home Journal.

Honors Reserved for the Dead. Congress long since found that it must prohibit the use of the face of any man while still alive on a bank-note, however distinguished he might be. Not even Grant was an exception. No man's head can be used on a postage stamp while he is alive. No vessel belonging to the United States can be named after a living man, even in the class where the names of naval heroes are alone employed. The Roman Catholic church has a wise rule that no step toward canonizing a person of saintly memory can be taken until 25 years after death, and 50 years must pass before the church will decide whether there is evidence to justify adding a new saint to the calendar.—Washington Star.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: 'I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the store of Mr. Houlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines.' For sale by C. E. Holton.

AWFUL MINE DISASTER IN WYOMING.

Careless Use of Miner's Lamp Causes the Loss Of Probably Forty Men.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 26.—The worst disaster in the history of coal mining in Wyoming since the Almy horror, eighty years ago, occurred at Diamondville last night. Thirty-six men are believed to have perished in a fire which started in mine No. 1, of the Diamondville Coal and Coke Company.

The blaze was discovered shortly after the night shift commenced work. It is thought to have originated from a careless miner's lamp in the oil room. The flames made such progress that only one man escaped from the two entries in which it was confined. His name is Jno. Alexander and he was frightfully burned in running the gauntlet of the flames. He was suddenly confronted by a wall of fire and smoke and wrapping his head in an overcoat he ran in the direction of the main entrance. He fell unconscious, and was carried to the mouth of the mine. The alarm was sounded and hundreds of miners at work in the mines and on the outside rushed to the rescue of their imprisoned comrades. The fire had by this time made such progress that it was impossible to enter the rooms of flame. The entire night was spent in confining the fire to the two entries and this morning it was necessary to seal them up to prevent the flames from spreading to other parts of the mine. This step was only decided upon after all hope of saving the lives of the men had been abandoned. Nothing could live five minutes in the fire, which was increasing in fierceness every minute. The plugging of the two entries will smother the fire, but it may be several days before the barricades can be removed and the chambers explored.

The exact total of the men entombed is not yet known as a number are missing, some on sick leave and others in the hospital, suffering from burns received while fighting the flames, so that an accurate count is at present impossible.

The scenes at the mouth of the mine during the night and today were heart-rending. Relatives and friends of the entombed miners rushed to the mine, frantically waving their hands and crying to the mine officials and miners to save their dear ones. Many of the women and children were slightly injured in the crowd and by falling over obstacles in the darkness.

Diamondville has been the scene of a number of disastrous fires since the coal mines were opened there, ten years ago, but the conflagrations were never attended with serious loss of life.

The mine is owned by the Oregon Short Line Railroad. Its output is 175,000 tons of coal per year and upwards of 700 miners are employed.

The fire was discovered by a boy named James Hetson, who bravely ran and told many men who were inside. Richard Fern, 15 years old, also ran through levels 5, 7 and 8 and notified the men and many were saved through his courageous action. Seven men, headed by mine foreman Griffin, made several desperate attempts to reach the men through the lower level, but their efforts were in vain, four of the seven being knocked down by fire damp, the others being compelled to carry them to fresh air. It is given out by Superintendent Thomas Sneddon and confirmed by others familiar with the conditions, that the lives of all the men were certainly extinguished within three minutes after the fire gained ascendancy.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, of which Mrs. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters: and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

A powerful engine cannot be run with a weak boiler, and we can't keep up the strain of an active life with a weak stomach; neither can we stop the human machine to make repairs. If the stomach cannot digest enough food to keep the body strong, such a preparation as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure should be used. It digests what you eat and it simply can't help but do you good. Howard Gardner.

PUNISHMENT SWIFT AND TERRIBLE METED OUT.

The Murderer of a White School Teacher in In- diana Burned by Infuri- ated Mob.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 26.—Punishment swift and terrible was meted out today to George Ward, the negro who murdered Miss Ida Finkelstein, the school teacher, by shooting her with a shot-gun and cutting her throat yesterday afternoon. A few hours after his arrest an angry mob battered down the doors of the jail, dragged the prisoner to the Wabash bridge, several squares away, and hanged him to the bridge draw. Not content with the hanging, the crowd cut the corpse down, and laying it on a sand bar under the bridge, kindled a fire and cremated the remains. It was the first lynching that Terre Haute has ever experienced.

Ward was arrested at 10 o'clock at the car works, where he was employed as a laborer, and after being fully identified by two citizens, made a confession. His only excuse for the murder was that Miss Finkelstein called him "a dirty nigger" and slapped him in the face. Sheriff Fasig communicated with Governor Durbin, but the mob accomplished its work before the militia could be ordered out. The Governor had wired Captain Thomas, of Company B, to place his company, fully armed, in readiness for duty.

At noon the crowd outside the jail, numbering several hundred, including men, women and boys, battered down the iron doors, but were driven back by Jailer Lawrence O'Donnell, who fired over the heads of the mob. Deputy Sheriffs Cooper, Hessick and LeForge were struck by scattering shot and slightly injured, but nobody in the crowd was hurt. A detail of police vainly tried to disperse the crowd.

At 12:30 o'clock another crowd battered down the outer doors of the jail, secured possession of the keys and entered the cell room. The side door was opened for the rest of the crowd. The cell was quickly opened and Ward was dragged forth. He fought with desperation and with ferocity. He was dragged out to the street, still fighting with all his strength, but a blow from a heavy hammer felled him to the ground.

A noose was quickly adjusted to his neck and the mob started with its victim toward the Wabash bridge. The feeble resistance made by the wretched creature after that blow with the hammer was soon quieted by the savage blows of the mob. Face downward, he was dragged through the street to the bridge and across the rough planking of the driveway to the draw-bridge. Many are of the opinion that the fellow was dead before the scene of the hanging was reached. However, the rope was thrown over one of the upper beams and the body drawn up.

Then burning at the stake was agreed on unanimously and a fire was quickly kindled on the bank of the river just south of the west end of the bridge, and into the fire the body, bearing no sign of life, was thrown, and faggots were piled upon it. The stake was omitted. The body was in a horizontal position, the feet protruding at one end and the head at the other. A can of turpentine was poured on the eager flames. After that combustible oils seemed to flow spontaneously toward the fire and the flames leaped high while the body of the negro was rapidly consumed.

None of the mob attempted disguise. When the body was taken down to be carried to the fire the bridge west of the draw was barricaded, but the east bank of the river and the bridge on the city side of the draw was crowded with thousands of men, women and children, gazing at the awful spectacle. With grim determination the mob fed the flames and watched the flesh shrivel to cinders and the bones crumble and burn.

Souvenir hunters were on hand in force and fragments of the body were scattered broadcast. One man, while the feet still protruded, offered $1 for a toe from "the nigger's foot." A venturesome youth drew a knife from his pocket, made a dash for the prize. He quickly amputated a toe, delivered the goods and got his money.

As the bones began to crumble and fall apart fragments were taken from the fire and carried away. At 3 o'clock there was nothing left of the body except a small section of the trunk and the back of the head. Busy hands kept the burning faggots piled upon the roasting segment. Women came to the scene by scores. At about 2:30 o'clock the barricade was removed and the crowd surrounded the fire.

Ward was 27 years old and leaves a widow and two children. He came here five years ago from Circleville, Ohio. The statement that he was at one time in an insane asylum is denied by his wife. He served jail sentence in 1889 for larceny.

The leaders of the mob are unknown and as public sentiment upholds the lynching, no prosecutions are expected.

EDITOR'S AWFUL FLIGHT.

F. M. Higgins, editor Seneca, (Ills.) News, was afflicted for years with piles that no doctor or remedy helped until he tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes two boxes wholly cured him. NEW BRITISH UNIFORM.

It is neither Red Nor Khaki, But Yellowish Fawn Invaluable Serge.

It is probable that within a very brief period there will be considerable changes made in the material used for clothing the army on home as well as on foreign service, says the London Telegraph. The committee dealing with the subject, which has been in session for about a couple of years, has at length been able to come to a final decision. Probably the events in South Africa have helped the members to make up their minds. At all events, they have chosen an excellent woolen serge-like material in which for the future practically the whole work of the troops will be performed. It is not khaki-colored, though that well known and serviceable hue is somewhat closely approached. Trousers will not be made from exactly the same material as the jacket, but of one somewhat rougher and thicker in texture. The new material is of a yellowish-fawn color, and is of excellent quality. It was selected from a great number of samples submitted to the committee, and has been approved by the war office. Two other materials of the same tint, but of rather stronger texture, have been selected for the mounted branches, and a stout Redford cord of the same color will be used for making breeches. No regulation dealing with the new clothing has yet been issued, but one may be expected shortly, and from thenceforward uniforms made of the new cloth will supersede the serges and dark cloth trousers now worn for drill and field work, both at home and abroad. The same pattern of jacket will be used for all branches of the service, but each unit will wear a distinguishing badge on the cap and shoulder strap.

It is not, however, intended that the new clothing shall entirely supersede the old style of dress. The tunic is to be worn for full dress, so that on full-dress parades the familiar blue and scarlet and black still greet the eye. Of course, it will be a considerable time yet before the uniform will be ready, but it is probable that the spring issue of clothing to the troops will include the new suit. It will be more handsome than khaki, while it will be far more comfortable and serviceable, and so far as experiments go to show, it will possess equal invisibility. It is to be hoped that a suitable headdress may soon be devised for the army. The helmets worn by the regular troops in South Africa are excellent, and greatly superior to the much-vaunted "smasher" felt hat, but they are hardly suitable for home wear. A peaked cap of the new cloth, picked out with scarlet lines, and made somewhat approaching the Russian pattern, would look very smart and be suitable for general wear. At all events, the ridiculous forage and field service caps should be relegated to the museums, along with the blue and scarlet serges now about to be superseded by the new uniform.

London's Girl Messengers. In London there is difficulty in getting enough boys to serve as messengers, so the experiment is being made of employing girls. Some of the messenger girls are demure damsels of 17 summers and are said to be quicker than the boys in delivering messages and answering calls. It will be interesting to watch the development of the experiment.—N. Y. World.
